STAFF

For research administration: 3

For project managemnt and administration:

Doctoral Coordinator, Research Analyst, Data Analyst, Project Coordinators

The greatest value and strength at work lies in:

- very strong team in the department;
- collaborative academic staff;
- support from the faculty dean and vice-deans;
- Good relations and support from other faculty divisions, university departments, and other faculties.

Pre-Award Stage

Identifying Funding

Looking for New Opportunities

The project staff are actively scanning for relevant calls.

- Guidance is provided on where and how to search for opportunities, along with support in interpreting call requirements.
- Discussions often focus on emerging topics, priority areas, and future trends in research funding.
- Efforts are made to match long-term research goals with suitable funding schemes or thematic areas.

Call Already Identified

- Researchers get tailored lists of calls with advice on timing and fit.
- The project staff role shifts towards technical support, timeline planning, team setup, and coordination of the proposal writing process.
